50th anniversary issue

old days, good times i remember, fun days, filled with simple pleasure, drive-in movies, comic books and blue jeans, howdy doody, baseball cards and birthdays take me back to a world gone away.
memories seem like yesterday.
old days, on my mind and in my heart to stay.
old days, darkened dreams of good times gone away.
old days, days of love and feeling fancy-free.
old days, days of magic still so close to me.

old days, good times i remember,
gold days, days i'll always treasure, funny faces, full of love and laughter, funny places, summer nights and street cars —
take me back to a world gone away.
boyhood memories seem like yesterday.
old days, on my mind and in my heart to stay.
old days, darkened dreams of good times gone away.
old days, days of love and feeling fancy free.

as co-editors of the 1977 sachem staff, it has been our honor to help create the 50th anniversary yearbook for agawam high school. in keeping with that idea, we've tried to develop two themes in our book. we've used the song "old days," by chicago, to represent the feelings of the senior class upon our graduation, and the symbol of an hourglass to represent the past fifty years of seniors, graduation, and yearbooks.

the song "old days," which is portrayed throughout the introduction of the sachem, was chosen as a means of reflecting the memories of our years at agawam high school. we also hope that in future years you will be able to glance back through these pages and recall your old days. the hourglass symbol, which is portrayed throughout the entire book, is more of a representation of the past fifty years. we'd like to encourage you, by relics pictured with the hourglass throughout the book, to remember this is a special yearbook and the class of 1977 is a special class to be receiving it. with these words in mind we hope you will enjoy the 1977 issue of sachem and cherish the memories we've tried to instill in these pages.

the mirror staff along with advisor mrs. dorothy martin, co-editors pat beauregard and lynn poggi, news editor mary de grandpre, and business manager cyndee atwater, published a news magazine for the student body each month. the staff members eat, sleep, and drink — layouts, deadlines, copyreading, and dictations. they cannot surpass a preliminary layout without rubber cement, rulers, graph paper, or corny headlines. typical questions popping up during a layout are, "who's got the camera?" "does anyone have a headline for this space?" "who's selling third lunch?" and "do i get a byline?" on one of those hectic days lynn would leave a note for mrs. martin saying "call me if you are going nuts!" the dedication and hard work of each member contributed to making the mirror an award winning magazine.

the american field service members shared an exciting year. the club began its activities at the annual community welcome, where they greeted two foreign exchange students, jorge sesnic tadic from chile, and linda marie russ from new zealand.

student officers this year were president maureen murray and vice-president janet may. advisor was ms. charlotte shimel. president for the agawam chapter for the foreign exchange club was mrs. dorothy marquis.

the main fund-raising project for the group was the parking of cars at the agawam middle school during the eastern states exposition. money raised at this event each year helps to send an agawam student abroad. agawam had a first this year by sending bonnie wiley, a 1976 graduate, to turkey.

hopefully, more agawam seniors will be chosen as exchange students in the future. the benefits of experiencing different lifestyles in a foreign country are undoubtedly worthwhile.

the band had a fresh start this year as it was rejuvenated by high spirits, more instrumentalists, 24 new colorguard members, and the selection of two drum majors for expertise in drill instruction. mr. davis was assisted by his dedicated "occifers" led by president anna nascembeni. performances given by the band and colorguard this year were in concerts, parades, and football games, including the uconn. vs. delaware game.

the summer community band, jazz band, and the new student directed studio lab band were among the many tangents of the band. the band and colorguard, as always, looked forward to their competitive appearances. among the competitions won by the marching unit this year were: best colorguard in the columbus day parade and third place in field competition at lowell, ma.

the music department's three vocal groups: madrigals, chorale, and girls' chorus, were kept busy from september to june by advisor mrs. mary callahan. the groups were most active during the winter months as they prepared for their january performance of "sing-out." many chorale members also participated in the minstrel show, which replaced the annual spring operetta this year. led by president barbara di flumera, the chorale was also busy preparing for all-western mass. district chorus try-outs, in which fifteen members were accepted. the three groups also combined to perform christmas concerts at local nursing homes and shopping malls, adding to the festivities of the christmas season.

the 1977 sachem staff, working within the insane atmosphere of advisor mr. david pulaski's room, has put in a valiant effort to assemble this, the 50th annual yearbook of agawam high school.

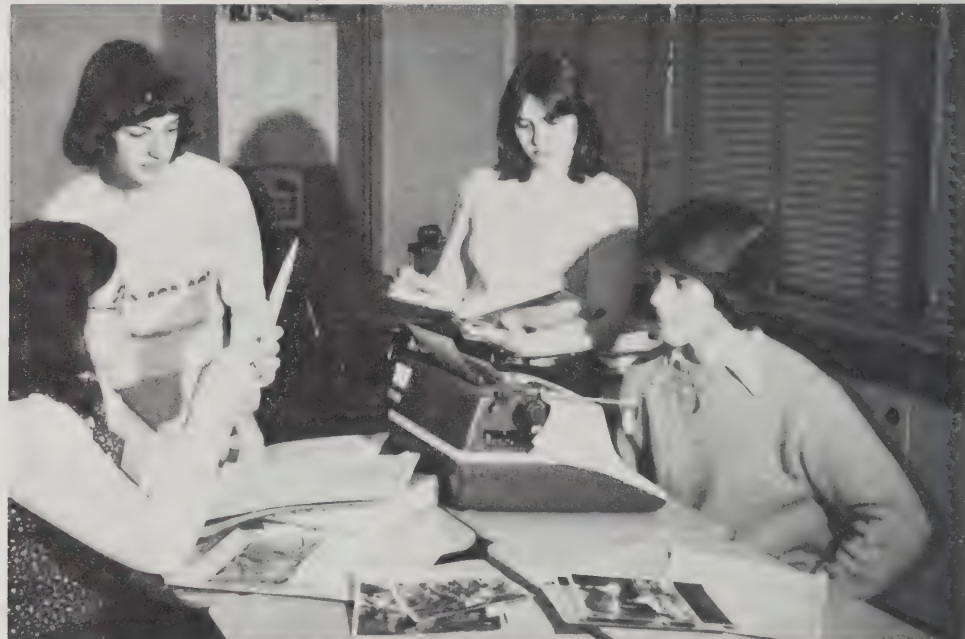

as you glance through the memories captured in this book, it is our hope that you will appreciate the long hours and hard work that went into every page of the 1977 sachem. also, we hope you can visualize the staff as we were, yes, "crazy;" but, most of all, determined to make this yearbook a special one.

the main objective of the art club is to instill an appreciation of art within the club members. this year's elected officers were: president denise belisle, vice-president karen mallette, treasurer sue walker, secretary mary-ann wotus, and publicity officer dianne collins.

under the supervision of mrs. barbara sadow-sky, they planned the club's activities for the year. included in the schedule were: attending demonstrations by local talent, trips to museums and exhibits, bake sales within school, and various community projects. as the year came to a close, the club can once again say that its' goal of broadening the imagination and creativity of its members toward a more colorful society had been achieved.

what comes next, besides more beads?

"and this is supposed to be art!"

club officers decide on new materials.

let's have a closer look at this one!

audio visual aids

under the guidance of mr. william l'heureux, the twenty-six members of the a.v.a. club learned to operate the electronic and visual equipment needed within the school. the members were also responsible for the lighting and sound for plays, concerts, and rallies.

the newly designed television studio, with director mr. rolland pressey, and technical director john balboni, televised many student activities. broadcasting off channel wwsa-3, they aired the fourth of july parade, monte carlo night, and a program for seniors on college credits. they also advertised for this year's sing-out, minstrel, and monte carlo night.

both sections of the a.v.a. club have become essential in the functioning of agawam high school.

"now this is the lens."

"wow is this ever complicated!"

the club views their newest equipment.

"now if this goes here . . . (viewing the control room console).

as schools match wits

the as schools match wits team under the capable leadership of mr. joseph zabielski, underwent a very productive year.

hard work, determination, and long hours of practice after school, prepared the team for the channel 22 taping of the show this past february. as we go to press, the results of the taping are unknown, but we're sure the team will do us proud!

office of student affairs

this year, twelve students were elected by their classmates to represent them in the office of student affairs. the elected officers were: director jim gallerani, assistant director phil vecchiarelli, secretary karl walczak, and treasurer elaine dobour. under the leadership of mr. albert baggetta, they planned the class elections and raised money for scholarships. the outside activities of the o.s.a. included student government day massachusetts, local car washes, and the voice of student topics. the main objective of this topic was to propose a student smoking lounge. the o.s.a. was kept busy during the year as they worked for the best interests of the student body.

the active members of the model congress, with advisor mr. john ferranti, survived another busy year, which focussed on training for competitions. improvements on their debating techniques resulted from discussions and from the taping of their "mental gymnastics." a team of four participated in competitions at north haven high school and american international college. the congress ended the year by debating their anti-trust bill, activated by jim shaer, during the annual high school model congress session held at a.i.c.

advisor mr. ferranti and jim shaer discuss parliamentary procedures.

national honor society

an 85 academic average, good citizenship, and leadership mark the achievements of the national honor society members. these students are the first in graduation line with the president of the society giving the commencement address. president matt paleologopoulos, vice-president lori cesan, secretary sue mcnmara, and advisor miss jane durkan, planned the initiation of the junior members to the society. it was held at an annual coffee hour where the camaraderie, danish pastries, and donuts were enjoyed by all.

"but matt . . ."

waiting for the outcome of the vote.

junior classical league

the junior classical league with advisor mrs. charest, president brian turnbull, secretary/treasurer sue baj, had another one of their "cornfusing" years. meeting on the second tuesday of each month, they planned their various activities for the year. included in their schedule were the pioneer valley classical league meetings, classics day, and a visit to the museum of fine arts in boston. their annual satranalia festival was held on st. nick's day, and they also went to an italian restaurant on the ides of march. this latin group had their annual end of the year party with the usual four hours of volleyball games.

even the president pays his dues.

the spanish club was quite active during the year with projects and activities planned by philomena napoli, secretary judy baj, and advisor miss ida moggio. at their monthly meetings the group produced skits, saw movies, and played scrabble entirely in spanish. the highlight of the spanish club this year was their annual christmas fiesta, complete with pinata and fancy spanish pastries made by the members of the club.

philomena runs over the schedule for the year.

shall we proceed with the matters at hand?

business club

the business club, a vocationally oriented organization, kept business well in hand under the leadership of mrs. arlene buchanan. the business of the club was overseen by president betty rogers, vice-president patty albano, secretary/historian lorraine scoville, and treasurers janet berelli and mary piquette.

some of this year's highlights included a field trip to a court house, listening to guest speakers, and holding bake sales to help finance scholarships.

the business club starts its day early.

distributive education

the distributive education club was involved in many community and civic projects this past year. under the direction of mr. peter lowrey, nearly all of the work was accomplished.

this year, the club consisted of ten seniors who met during "a" period. some of the activities in which the club were involved included: toys for tots, christmas parties for patients at wesson memorial hospital, and parties at heritage hall nursing home. this year, as in the past, the club was a valuable asset to the school and community.

"i thought you said it would only take a minute."

a small but active group.

red cross service

the agawam high school red cross service enjoyed a very active year. the service's dedicated members, under the guidance of mrs. prew, met every friday activity period. some of the red cross duties this year were baking cookies for dances at the veterans' hospital, and collecting money to help flood and earthquake victims. the red cross also helped with the high school stationed bloodmobile, and the many other projects delegated to them by the american red cross, their senior affiliation.

too many cooks spoil the broth.

it would help if you turned on the heat!!

i think it said only one teaspoon!!!

library staff

the library staff was kept busy all year as agawam's studious students spent many hours within the confines of the library.

librarians were ms. charlotte shimel and assistant mrs. catherine o'keefe. the library received many new books this year, but much to the dismay of mrs. o'keefe, the long-awaited autobiography of robert redford, has yet to be published.

the library staff gave willingly of their free study periods this year to aid in filing, checking out books, stacking, and other duties of the library.

the library staff is always kept busy.

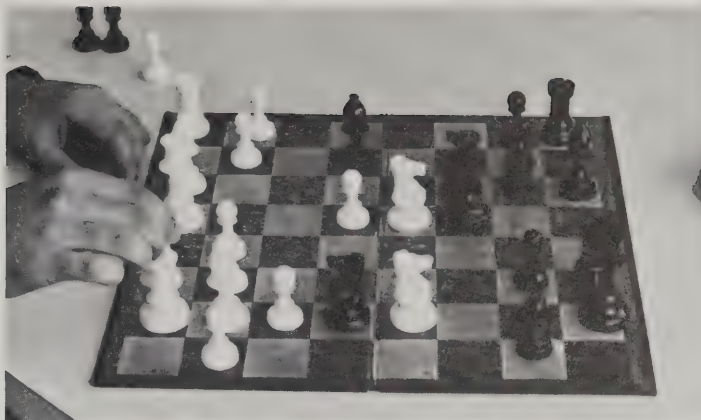

you don't really want the book on the top shelf do you??

chess club

the chess club, for the first time in many years, became an active organization at agawam high school. the advisor of the club was mr. edward stentafor.

the officers this year were president arthur wu, vice-president john shaer, and secretary janet webb. with no formal competition, the group met after school to have matches between themselves. this club, consisting of twelve underclassmen, was dominated by many promising sophomores, who hope to better their game through their monthly meetings.

and he finally makes his move!

mr. stentafor explains the game.

unexpected snowfalls in early november of this year, brought many smiling faces to the 1977 ski club, and to their advisor mr. richard joseph. the purpose of the ski club is to encourage people to ski, and to provide a social gathering for its members.

the weekly trips to mt. tom just could not compare with the 1976 trip to chamonix, france. skiing on the french alps, as many of the agawam students attest, is a skier's paradise. the members who participated in this trip were: pam grasso, sheileen sapelli, gerri waniewski, and roberta guill.

although no large trips were planned this year, the club has high hopes of once again travelling around the world in search of a skier's paradise.

members discuss the possibility of the 1977 trip.

the french alps, a skier's utopia.

student advisory committee

the student advisory committee to the school committee is a relatively new part of agawam high's student government. its main objective is to act as a mediator between the school committee and the students of agawam high school.

the committee's function is to relay student proposals of new school policies to the school committee, and to inform the students of the board's decisions on these proposals.

co-chairmen of the student committee this year were bret coughlin and jim shaer. the secretary was caren ouelette along with members mary de grandpre and lisa-ann mercadante. ex-official sophomore delegates were vicki de carlo and john shaer.

under the guidance of mrs. miriam mackler, much work and dedication resulted in the passing of numerous reforms during this past year.

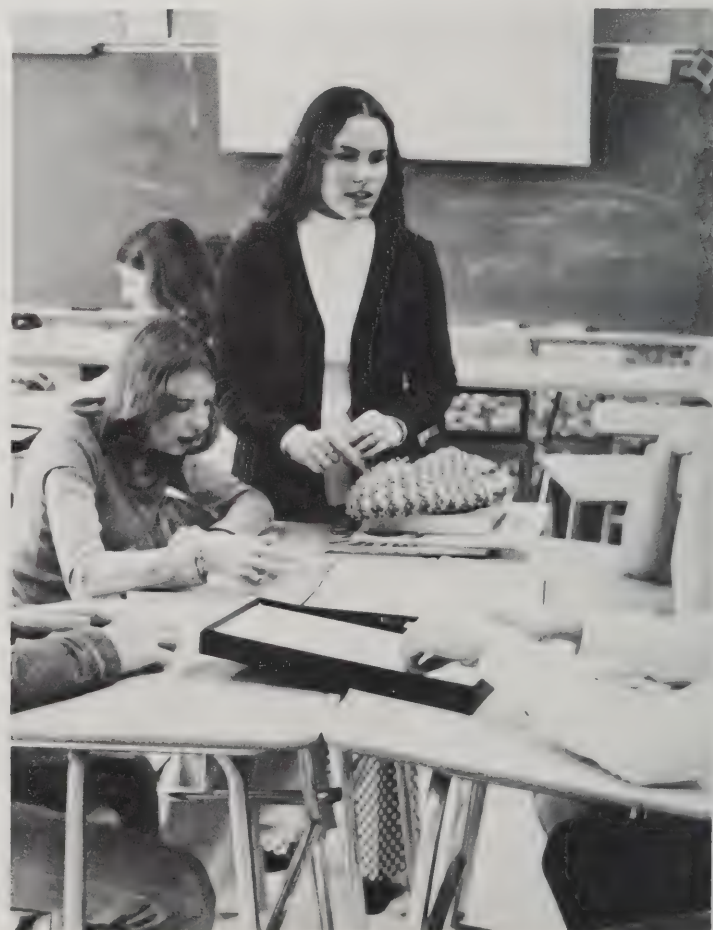

the council goes over its topics for the year.

the french club had an active year under the direction of president lynn fattini and advisor, mrs. melanie poudrier. plans were made and activities carried out at meetings held on the first tuesday activity period of each month. this year the french club's activities included playing french scrabble and holding a french food festival. the club wound up their '77 activities by going to boston in the spring to see "the little prince" performed in french.

mrs. poudrier explains french scrabble.

the sophomore class, after having been "officially welcomed" by the upperclassmen, prepared to face the pressures which threaten all students during their first year of high school.

officers elected to represent the sophomore class were: doug rossi, randy young, lori cosby, and andy griffin.

their positions of office were: president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively. working along side the class was advisor mr. wayne morse.

willing, ready, and able, the class of 1979 participated in many school functions. among the various activities was the monte carlo night, which helped to strengthen their financial status.

after a long and exciting year, the sophomores anxiously await their future years as upperclassmen, where they hope to do much more at agawam high school.

the junior class under the leadership of its officers: president — gail toczko, vice president — diana hardina, secretary — kathi d'alma, and treasurer — lori simpson, hoped to make their junior year a very successful one.

upon receiving their class rings in october, the juniors were officially upperclassmen. under the efforts of advisor miss mary wolochowicz, the class of "78" faced the responsibilities which pressure all juniors.

the class of 1978, showing much enthusiasm, helped organize the annual monte carlo night, and also planned and prepared for the junior-senior prom in may.

for the first time since 1971 the perennial valley wheel baseball champions, the agawam brownies, failed to win or tie for the valley wheel title. in the spring of 1976, agawam's young and inexperienced team had it's ups and downs as indicated by their 11-11 record.

coach gerald smith feels that 1977 will be a different story as a year of experience will be helpful to his younger players. returning all league players will include, outfielder dan d'alma who completed the '76 season with a .380 average, utility player gary nolin who terminated the spring season with a .333 average, and pitcher steve mercadante. steve displayed his talent in the agawam-tech game with a victory of 3-4, and finished the season with a 2.26 era. along with tom harkins, brian rheault, john girard in the infield, roland broulliard in the outfield and pitchers mike rielly, john brown and paul tangredi, agawam should once again rise to the top of the valley wheel pack where they belong.

although the agawam high school golf team commenced the '76 season with an encouraging victory over southwick, due to many tough breaks, the number of victories waned thereafter.

mike zaborowski, the most consistent golfer last year, held an impressive 78 average throughout the season, qualifying him for the western mass. tournament. glen consolini and rich tencotti also contributed their skills to the team achieving uniform scores in the 80's.

the east longmeadow match, a prime example of the team's adversity, displayed an event in which the opponents would have suffered a great defeat. cancellation due to lighting, led to an unsuccessful struggle to regain the win.

mike zaborowski, glen consolini, mark bigda, mike zuraw and steve czerpak, along with returning hopefuls are anxiously awaiting the action of the '77 season. coach roger leclerc is convinced that this year, agawam can be competitive with many teams in the valley wheel.

that wasn't one of my better shots.

the 1976 softball team placed second in the valley wheel, terminating the season with a 7-3 record. under the leadership of carol capitani, co-captains janice reutt and celeste gallucci, the team posted an impressive 5-0 record in the first round of valley wheel action. as a result of the inexperienced offensive line, the team was disappointed with their final record of 1-6 for independent games.

varsity player, diane mercadante stated, "since most of the games were one-run decisions, we definitely should have won the valley wheel title last year." according to kim santinello, "77 will be the best year ever."

with the optimistic attitude of next year's hopefuls, the spring should be accompanied by a much more experienced squad. seniors, pat beauregard, peg leclair, mary mckinney, diane mercadante, kim santinello, and martha vanasse, along with many returning underclassmen, are expecting a much more promising season this spring.

boys' track

the individual accomplishments of each member on the 1976 boys' track team, led by coach modzelewski, paid off as they finished the season with an 11-1 record.

phil losito, agawam's first high school all american, was undefeated until the state meet, holding the school and valley wheel record for the high jump. another stronghold was dale mccarl who holds the school record for the 220 and 100 yard dash. kevin coughlin proved to be a strong distance runner for the squad. dennis lang, karl ekstedt, and scott ruby, showed their strength hurling the javelin.

coaches modzelewski and young are optimistic, and look forward to another strong year in '77. with the help of returning seniors, karl walzak, steve smith, tony santinello, gary buynicki, dom pisano, and joe norman, they should undergo another impressive year.

the 1976 girl's track team led by coach paul blodgett, ended it's first season with a 3-7 record. the squad consisted of 36 members, 9 of whom went on to the western mass. championships. with all that talent and determination the girls had a good season for a first year term.

cindi berger and karen thomas, veterans of the 1975 boy's track team, and co-captains of this season's team, were both strong runners. cindi ran the 220 while karen ran the 880. other main runners on the team were: ann tinnemeyer, throwing the discus, long jumper denise tetreault, sharon brown, who hurdled her way through the season, and laurie demusis, who relayed for the team. these tracksters were six of the nine who qualified for the western mass. championships.

what does the '77 season hold in store for the squad? well, with these returning members: janet may, mary ann wotus, jo ellen le grande and lynn wysocki, along with other strongholds of the '76 season, their chances are great for a fantastic spring season.

the 1976 boy's tennis team, led by coach wayne morse, posted a 3-13 record. singles play was dominated by pete mclaughlin and stève houlihan, playing first and second, respectively. tony karem, voted most valuable player, teamed up with darcy davis, a first year player, to be among the top ten in western mass. doubles tournament play. the team was rounded out by bruce gregalis, dave nutbrown, kurt dahdah, bill mclellan, ken quigley, tim scanlon, and jose vazquez.

the 1976 girls' tennis team, led by first year coach lin daniels, closed the season with a 3-13 record. the girls had very little experience, with only one returning varsity player. "everyone worked hard and improved as a result," commented senior cindi borgatti, "but our record didn't show what we put into it."

singles play was dominated by val kinnell and first year player celeste gallucci, who alternated as first and second singles. linda ayre, cindi borgatti, janet sarat, karin strehl, and terry vazquez shared first and second doubles duty. strongly supporting them were michelle gregalis and terry donovan.

losing only one player, the outlook for next year's team is good. using their experience, the girls are sure to go far in valley wheel competition next season.

the agawam brownies concluded their 1976 season with a satisfactory record of 3-4-2. following a 28-13 victory over greenfield the brownies stuck their feet into the mud while tying holyoke 20-20, and then running through the snow to defeat wachonah 38-0. though these games were exciting, the most nerve-rattling, heart stopping game this season was the thanksgiving day rivalry game against the west springfield terriers, who were defeated 15-14.

outstanding seniors this year were: joe norman who scored 64 points throughout the season, dan d'alma, who led in pass receptions and interceptions, and tony mason, who upheld the offensive line and was selected as all western mass. interior lineman, jeff nelson, dom pisano, gary buynicki, peter bonavita, ralph meyers, bob beaudette, phil vecchiarelli, jim lancour and jim shaer all contributed greatly to coach le cleric's team.

future prospects include sophomore steve neilsen, who was the mainstay of the defensive unit, randy young, who proved to be a promising quarterback, and mario mercadante, who was an outstanding offensive leader during the season.

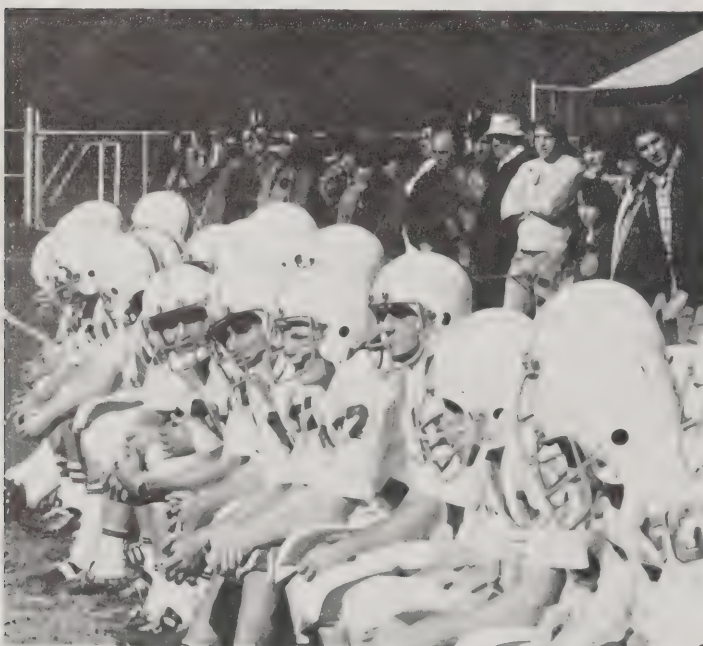

though the brownies record was not as spectacular as in past years, they should be congratulated for what was certainly an exciting season, and given support in seasons to come.

cross country

the 1976 cross country team had a disappointing year, closing the season with a 0-11 record. the six man team was coached by mr. joseph haggerty, who, according to karl walczak, "has helped us to reach our full potentials." though lacking the numbers to display much competition against other schools, the team had two top runners in seniors jim gallerani and karl walczak. karl placed fifth in the valley wheel championship, and was among the top twenty in the western massachusetts competition. other enthusiastic contributors to the team were: senior john tinnemeyer, junior jeff richardson, and sophomores steve atkinson and jerry sambrook.

it is hoped that next year's sophomores will give the team a lift in numbers, as well as contributing to the talent so badly needed after those fine graduating students leave agawam high school.

the agawam soccer team ranked eleventh in division three as it completed the 1976 season with a 13-10-3 record. the team started the year with an impressive opening against greenfield, which ended in a one to one tie. unfortunately, the team suffered many losses during the year, but, was held together by the stamina and spirit of the players.

senior members who aided the team this year were: bret coughlin, who scored five goals, gary nolin and norman duquette, who scored four goals each. scoring three, two and one goal respectively were seniors, roland brouillard, tim bassett and bob johnson. during the season returning underclassmen showed enthusiasm and promise for a brighter season in 1977.

under first year coach karen bauer, the 1976 girl's field hockey team finished the season with a 4-10-2 record.

this year the team had a strong defense, with mary mckinney as goalie. other senior starters were cathy o'connor, peg-le clair, and diane mercadante, the team's highest scorer.

along with juniors lee-ann mercadante, barbara landers, sue lancour, and janet may, the entire '76 squad showed ceaseless determination.

the team's experience shows promise for a successful season next year. with many returning underclassmen, the outlook for next year's field hockey team looks good.

girls' soccer

the 1976 girls' soccer team, led by coach carol capitani, ended their season with a 8-4-2 record. co-captains bev edwards and karen tyburski played forwards and were the highest scorers on the team. filling in the other forward positions were diana hardina, joellen legrande, and wendy ober. halfback positions were taken by michelle korob, nancy fountain, and maureen conroy. julie edwards, katie boyle, and cheryl nardi played as fullbacks. goalie lisa kamyk shut-out six teams and doubled as a forward.

speed and mobility made this team and it showed in their fine performances. one of this first year team's best games was a 2-1 victory over rival west side. with all members returning agawam is sure to be the strongest on the field next season.

the 1976 girls' swim team, led by coach barbara willenbrock, ended the season with a well-rounded 8-5 record. veteran seniors this year were co-captains pat beauregard and mary jane augusti and diver val kinnell. the girls are strong swimmers both as a team and individually. val took eleventh place while the relay team won eighth place in western mass. competition. the girls finished the year with a second place victory in the valley wheel competition.

with a large number of upcoming sophomores and returning underclassmen, agawam is expected to be a strong contender next season.

boy's swimming

competing in an elevated swimming level, coach dave smith dove into a fair season. although the team was off to a good start with a few close meets, the boys soon found themselves backstroking through a rough year. but, more enthusiastic than ever, the '77 swim team claimed that the good times were better than ever before.

along with bob johnson, most outstanding senior, dave misisco also maintained the responsibility of being captain of the boy's swim team. the team was also aided with the eye-opening performances of the multi-talented underclassmen. among these relay swimmers were most outstanding junior, jeff richardson, and most outstanding sophomores, jim snyder and joe bercier.

losing only four seniors, steve gaynor, bob johnson, mark marieb, and dave misisco, next year's hopefuls should drown their opponents. although agawam has experienced many disappointing moments in the past, the much improved squad should be highly qualified for the western mass. league next season.

the 1976-'77 boys' varsity basketball team, coached by mr. wayne morse, started the season with a tough independent schedule. the boys played some well-known powerhouses such as; tech, cathedral, and chicopee comp. the brownies, defending valley wheel co-champs, had major changes this year as they had only two returning starters. despite this change, the team was strong with the starting positions filled by four seniors and one junior. starters were guards gary buynicki and john brown, combining their talents as best outside shooter and best dribbler, forwards rich ackerman and sole junior tom harkins, rich was the team's strong rebounder while both players were good outsiders; and center ralph myers, the brownies strong inside player and rebounder. supporters to these starters were seniors: bob beaudette and karl walczak, junior devin adams and sophomore steve nielson.

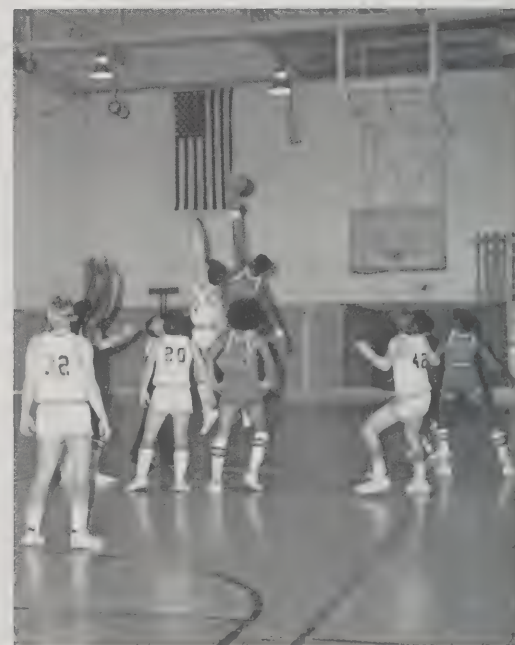

with all but three of the team's players graduating, the brownies will have to go through a few years of rebuilding. the hopes of the team for next season rest on the three returning players.

the 1976-'77 girls' varsity basketball team, led by coach carol capitani and miss karen bauer, was a main contender for the valley wheel championship this year. returning from a co-championship in '75-'76, the girls had another fine season. the team had three strong seniors this year; mary mckinney, taking center position, while peg leclair and captain diane mercadante gave the team a strong defense as guards. this strength was shown in their first game, agawam 43-ludlow 31. losing only three seniors, the team should be a winning one next season.

the 1976-'77 gymnastics team was led by coach laurine greguoli, assisted by keith lawrence. the squad was reinforced by many new vibrant members this season, who, along with returning members, expressed a tremendous amount of zeal to reach higher goals each time they performed. the girls also exhibited much enthusiasm while setting up their own equipment before practicing for three hours a day. all of their determination and perseverance showed in the scores they achieved.

displaying their talents on the uneven bars, balance beam, the horse, and floor exercises were: sharon brown, linda decosmo, cathy devine, terry donovan, cheryl dowl- ing, nancy fontaine, ellen gensler, pam king, denise lafrance, jay leclair, kathy long, jenette mckarl, janet murray, lisa roy, lori simpson, and robyn smith. with all of the potential these girls have shown, this will be the first of many successful years for them, as well as the coaches.

the 1976-'77 varsity hockey team, coached by ralph merullo, skated into the demanding berry division with unyielding speed and agility.

holding down offensive positions were senior co-captains gary nolin and john girard. they were assisted by paul tangredi, andy ghedi, steve castelli, jim sibilialia, and steve smith. defensively, agawam was strong and aggressive. holding defense positions were mike bryden, jim dow, stewart case, john wagner, tony rondoletto, paul coutre, and steve oulette. tending the nets were goalies ron dutton and jim lancour.

with the team's high spirit and general flexibility, agawam skated their hearts out but to no avail.

girl's ski team

the 1976-'77 ski team, led by first year coach jane benerakis, competed at mt. tom this season with a large and promising team. although young, the girls found the needed experience and proved to be a leading contender in their league. the versatile members, all underclassmen, were juniors; roberta guiel, nancy heywood, sheileen sapelli, terry potito, mary piquette, kelly lynch, tricia longo, michelle korob, lisa houllihan, linda godet, lisa fern, karen bianchi, lisa fenton, mary ball, and sally andrews, along with sophomores; chris fenton, and kathy femmel. with no seniors graduating, experienced members will prove to be next season's strength.

providing spirit when spirit was sorely needed, decorating the gym and locker rooms, trying out new routines, providing all the energy needed to keep our rally assemblies rolling along successfully . . . all in the life of an agawam high cheerleader. constantly expending their energies to boost team spirit, our cheerleaders led by seniors april hadden, kim monachesi, laurie stone, and lori cesan, could always be found at work with one of their projects around the campus. there when needed, the 1977 cheerleading squad had what it takes to complete a very successful year!

i clearly remember the ecstatic preparation for a nerve-racking first day of high school on september 4, 1974. as i climbed off the bus, and stood before this dismal building, i knew i had taken the first step into what promised to be an exciting year, beginning with homeroom assignments, organizing my schedule, and fumbling with an impossible locker combination. i then wandered out into the over-crowded halls to find my classes, with the help of a map which looked like a mole burrow. boy, was there ever a lot of pushing and shoving, arguing and bloodshed, in the halls. i thought i heard someone mention that these halls were hollowed?

when we finally settled into the daily routine of agawam high, we were faced with the decision of electing class officers. while still in a daze we elected: cindy fedora president, wayne jarvis vice-president, donna cebrelli secretary, and fran gutowski treasurer, to collaborate with mr. james white for the best interests of our class. from that day on "get your wallets out, because here comes fran for class dues and the yearbook staff for payments," became the most recognized chant within the halls of agawam high. how inhuman could they be, both asking for our money at the same time!

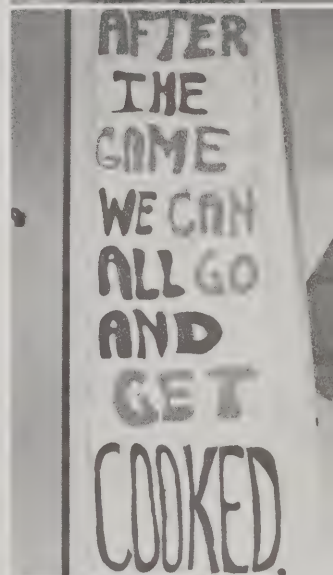

as the days were slipping by, each and every one of us was judged by the lobby mob, and generally accepted into their realm of society. by the way, who gave those window stoopers the right to pass judgment on me? then again, who was i to have said anything about it?

the upperclassmen were talking about something called a "rally" for activity period. i now believe that most of our class was disappointed with our first rally. not only because the majority of us had to stand or sit on the floor; but because, the "upperclassmen win everything tradition" still prevailed. i must admit those rallies were quite boring, the only decent one being the west side rally. watching competitions between the cheerleaders of the two schools was a lot better than listening to "seniors won!" other activities throughout the year included: the senior-faculty football game, the winter olympics with egg throwing competitions, and the senior-faculty softball game. those three slapstick events could have been re-runs of laurel and hardy movies!

fund raising events during the year were few but interesting. the sophomore and junior classes held a monte carlo night under the direction of mrs. evelyn hamilton. it proved to be quite prosperous, and mr. t. won the largest door prize of them all, a t.v. correct me if i am wrong, but isn't there a rule against gambling in the school? mrs. hamilton also directed a stationery sale, which backfired into her storeroom.

shall we take a look at the earth shattering news which happened within the school? our baseball team won the valley wheel title, while in football, the west springfield terriers defeated the agawam brownies for the first time in thirteen years. the band and color guard won first place in the columbus day parade, even though they didn't receive the trophy. the mohawks also won four awards in new jersey and new york. this was the first year without a Broadway musical, but holly kinnell and bob trempe did an excellent job with the script of "dates and mates."

among my cherished memories of our sophomore year, there is one which stands alone. this experience occurred when we ordered our class rings. we spent days trying on the juniors' rings, in an attempt to make our final decision concerning the color of the band and stone of our rings. during those few weeks i felt as though i was finally on my way to becoming an upperclassman. i began looking forward to the first day of my junior year.

we have climbed up one more rung on the ladder, leaving the title "babies" behind us, and becoming the "middlemen" of agawam high. why did i get the feeling that we were a bunch of "oreo cookies?" the class officers working in conjunction with mr. wayne morse during our junior year were: president cindy fedora, vice-president phill vecchiarelli, secretary donna cebrelli, and treasurer sue sardella. these four people busily kept preparing the class of '77 for its' senior year.

isn't it funny, how all of a sudden we were considered someone, because we were juniors? receiving our class rings, was just the beginning of this wonderful feeling of acceptance. the entire class now had a place to sit at the rallies, and because of the "upperclassmen win everything tradition" we began to win competitions over the sophomores. we also helped to decorate the gym for the west side rally, which proved to be interesting without the west side cheerleaders there. some of our good natured teachers played the part of the west side gang, and were attacked with shaving cream. our class was also given the responsibility of organizing the junior-senior prom. the prom committee chose "i only have eyes for you" as the theme, and held the affair at chez josef: talk about the trials and tribulations of being a junior!

this was the year for new ventures on agawam high's part. the american field service was introduced into the school, and with it came our first exchange student, peter concannan from england. this service did prove to be worthwhile for all concerned. peter learned of our cultures as we learned of his upbringing. in an effort to raise money, the a.f.s. held a volleyball competition between the classes, our class just happened to win. do you suppose it was the old double '7 at work?

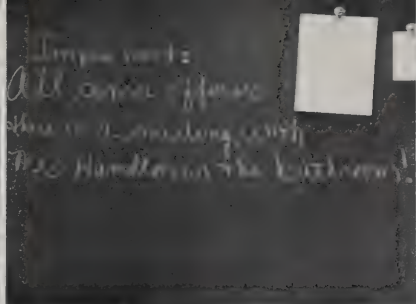

mr. clark's prayer for a greenhouse was finally answered. the construction was started and continued through the closing of school. now mr. clark's plants don't have to worry about developing claustrophobia.

the various activities scheduled during the year included: the senior-faculty football game at which the teachers defeated the students, the winter olympics during which the contestants walked around with whipped cream dribbling out of their mouths, and the senior-faculty softball game at which tom shaer had his fun ranking on the teachers. i swear each year these events become more ridiculous than the year before. what do you say we write a comic strip about them? mrs. hamilton once again directed a monte carlo night, with the help of the sophomore and junior classes. i wonder if the administration has informed her of the rule prohibiting gambling yet? we were also privileged to be spectators at a karate show in the gym.

the earth shattering news this year was, the agawam brownies defeated the west springfield terriers in their rivalry game. the girl's swim team had an impressive season. the agawam high school magazine, the "mirror," won seven awards at american international college. in the white division they won five awards, along with the awards for the best all round paper and press bowl. they also placed second at the columbia scholastic press conference in new york city. the chorale and chorus stuck to the bicentennial theme in their sing-out and musical. the 50th annual musical entitled "yankee doodle," featuring brian turnbull and sharon cusson, made mr. davis's 20th musical a special one. the chorale also participated in an exchange concert with concord, new hampshire. the color guard won first place in the st. patrick's day parade, after marching through a tornado. the mohawks also marched in the fourth of july parade. the long awaited t.v. studio was finally completed and great plans have been made for its usage.

i have a confession to make. though i couldn't wait for my junior year to begin with all of its glories, about half way through it, i was sitting on pins and needles waiting for it to end. true it was a very good year, but the time had come for us to take that final step up the ladder, because our senior year was just around the corner.

we, the class of '77, rounded the bend and began our senior year as each class before us had. as soon as the class of '76 graduated we immediately assumed our roles as the "window stoopers," the "senior win everything recipients," and all round antagonists. we may have been pains in the eyes of the administration and underclassmen, but it was all worthwhile; so that we can someday sit back and say, boy, what a year. though we assumed our roles in june, and headed right into our positions in september, our senior year slipped by so fast it almost received a speeding ticket.

by the time our senior year had officially begun, i had a typical case of writers cramp. i swear between class elections, max-ed, yearbook, college and scholarship applications, we must have filled out more forms than the president ever sees. our class advisor mrs. evelyn hamilton and her merry foursome: president cindy fedora, vice-president lori cesan, secretary donna cebrelli, and treasurer sue pacewicz had a typical year planned for us. sure i don't like things stereotyped, but when it comes to caps and gowns . . . i firmly believe each class should be unique, though graduating in any other than the school colors is totally assinine.

"ma" hamilton did an excellent job in planning the kid party, where all us kiddies at heart could rekindle memories of our childhood. our party must have been extra special because we had two santas there, and raven hill provided the entertainment for the evening. our senior banquet held at the kimbell towers was the complete opposite of the kid party. at this affair we had to let the mature, sophisticated side of ourselves show through. we also had the annual senior class picnic, along with an added attraction, a country fair. the junior-senior prom was once again held at chez josef's . . . those three slapstick comedy events: the senior-faculty football game, winter olympics, and the senior-faculty softball game, became agawam high classics in our eyes. i guess your prospective changes on everything when you are in the limelight.

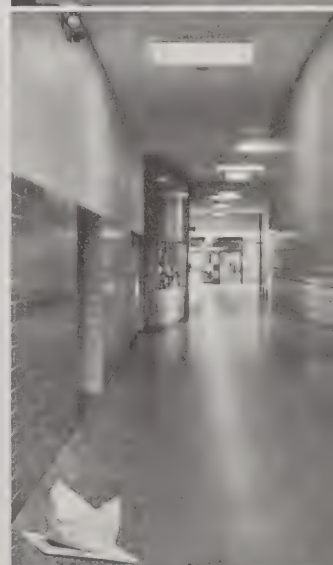

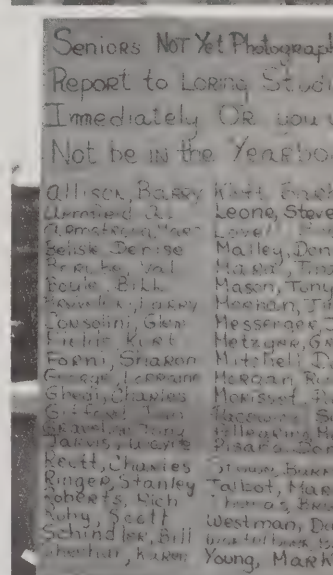

boy, have we had a busy year just with the senior activities, let alone the other events in which we participated throughout the year. the juniors held a gong show for anyone who wanted to make a fool out of himself. the sophomore and junior classes along with mrs. hamilton ran the annual monte carlo night. people have always said that gambling was habit forming.

as for the earth shattering news this year, the agawam brownies once again defeated the west springfield terriers in the traditional thanksgiving day game. the "mirror" won first place awards at holyoke community college for the best all round paper and feature. the band and color guard marched through snow, icy waters, and chilly winds to capture third place at the state competitions in lowell mass. the frostbitten mohawks were much warmer in atlantic city, new jersey this spring. the chorale's annual singout was made bigger and brighter, because to the dismay of many, there was not a broadway show this year. a student directed minstrel, which was staged in march, tickled many fancies. the american field service held an a.f.s. weekend where students from all over the world visited us here in agawam. besides all these events, there was a huge peanut fight in the cafeteria the day following the presidential election . . . could this have been a way of boycotting carter?

there were many special events which occurred throughout our senior year that we will reflect back on in years to come. such as rallies even though the "upperclassmen win everything tradition" still prevailed, it did bother us one bit. our max-ed privileges during which most of us spent our time at macs, friendly's, etc. . . . mock graduation, our last mandatory day in school, where our final act as a senior was the receiving of our picture book of enduring moments, our 1977 sachem. i'm surprised we even got our yearbooks, with our staff constantly clawing at one another's throats, like cats and dogs. funny but i can't seem to find a paw print in my book.

and now as we, the senior class of 1977, leave these hallowed halls of a.h.s. which echo with our cherished memories of years spent here; it is our hope for the underclassmen to spend their remaining years here as we did, and remember their cherished moments as we will ours.

kittredge jewelry company for 65 years "m. j. kittredge" has proved to be the finest jeweler in the springfield area.

if you appreciate the quality, integrity and honesty that are synonymous with the kittredge name you will be pleased to know we are again at your service. the same high quality jewelry of all types is once more available to you — and at huge savings. that includes watches, rings, diamonds, silverware, and gold jewelry.

since we will not be in a store, and therefore saving overhead, we are able to offer you quality and service on famous name brand merchandise at discounts of up to 40% over what you would pay elsewhere.

just call bill jobbins and he will be pleased to make a personal appointment for you. it will be our privilege to continue to serve you. our service includes jewelry and watch repairing. we also offer appraisals of your valuables for your insurance coverage. with the inflation it would be advisable to have this done if the appraisal was made some years ago.

we are also interested in purchasing silver flatware, old gold, jewelry and diamonds.

. . . and in our hearts to stay.

in publishing the 50th anniversary issue of the "sachem," the 1977 staff has tried to capture the special moments and everyday happenings of student life. as seniors, it has been our sincere desire to put together a book of memories which will continue to stimulate our fellow graduates to reminisce their "old days"* at agawam high.

on behalf of the staff, we gratefully acknowledge matt pappas and maryann wotus for the cover art. mr. john orrall, our taylor publishing representative and loring studios. some outstanding staff members, along with other industrious workers on the staff, who merit special thanks are sue baj, carol stepanik, and darlene stoll, who were there when times were rough. also deserving recognition for their efforts are advertising editor lita smith and her hard working staff, and last, but certainly not least, the most patient man ever to exist at agawam high; our advisor, photographer, and counselor, mr. david pulaski.

co-editors,

Pamela Mc Collum
